From

Soldiers of the World War
Defiance County, Ohio

This little booklet (5 3/4" x 8 3/4", 32 pages) lists the Defiance County Soldiers who served during World War I. Approximately half of the pages are devoted to advertisements for businesses in Defiance and Evansport. The volume no longer has a cover. The present front page is devoted to an advertisement for the D-K Tobacco House in Defiance.

The original document has 17 pages of advertisements that were scanned and saved as a searchable PDF file (6.6 MB). Not all text is searchable as some advertisements contain ornate text that is not recognized by the Adobe Reader.

This publication is dedicated to the late Jim Flory (1936 – 2008) who loaned us the original booklet for scanning in 2007.

U-No It is Good!

U-NO: Just back from the front, E-No?

E-NO: Yep, back to the good old U. S. A.

U-NO: How do you find things here? Many changes, eh?

E-NO: Quite a few. Gone dry, too. Couldn't wait till we got home to give us a look-in.

U-NO: But there is plenty good stuff left, U-no. This U-No, for instance, hits the spot.

E-NO: Oh yes, we can manage. I rather like U-No. But I can't say I relish the way it was brought about.

U-NO: Everybody has a good word for U-No. It is fine, served cold. Healthful, invigorating and soothing.

E-NO: Agreed, we all like it and we'll forget that it was forced onto us. So

Here's to U-No!
Long may it Live!

U-NO is sold at all restaurants, drug stores and cafes. Call for it. You will like it.
