March

March 17, 2011 - Board Meeting Highlights

Dianne Kline has been given permission to submit obituary information collected at the Defiance Public Library into the Hayes Obituary data base. Reporting for the Veterans’ Historical Committee, Rich Rozevink announced that the dedication for Camp #2 has been set for September 10, 2011. President Brown and Julie Miller are to meet with Jim Rebar this week to work removing the older chapter web site and updating the new. Dianne Kline noted that Marriages 7 & 8 will be the last Defiance County marriage volume for now, as the judge would only allow information up to 1925 to be published. Rhonda Casler of the Records Center is currently working on a more complete set of Defiance County birth records. When completed, she will share the information for publication by the chapter.

March 29, 2011 - Chapter Meeting Highlights

Twenty-six members and guests met at St. John UCC at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, March 29, 2011. President Brown introduced Gloria Fast of the Joseph Semple Chapter of the Society of the War of 1812. Ms. Fast along with Gladys Donson presented two of our DCGS chapter members with awards. Richard Rosevink was awarded the Spirit of the War of 1812 Medal for doing more than any other Ohioan and even beyond Ohio in extending the knowledge of the War of 1812. Dave Bennett was presented with a certificate for his research which promoted the War of 1812.

President Brown then introduced our guest speaker, Warren

Defiance County Records Center to Offer FREE Birth/Marriage/Death Records

The Defiance County Records Center has scanned birth and death records 1867-1908 and marriage records 1845-2009. If a record is requested via email, it can be sent to the requestor via email in a .pdf file at no charge. Emails should be sent to recordcenter@defiance-county.com
Schlatter, the Defiance County Engineer. Warren spoke on the history of the early roads in Defiance County. He noted that the first recorded survey of lands was in 1820-1821 and that the city of Defiance was platted in 1823. He then showed where early roads were located and how they developed year by year.

For the Veterans’ Committee, Rich showed the mock-up for a marker to denote Camp Trimble, a training camp used in the Civil War. The marker with the lilac symbol of Defiance will be placed in the Kingsbury Park area near where Camp Trimble once stood. For a future Town and Gown program, Rich and Dave will tell of the Union Light Guard which served as President Lincoln’s body guards. Rich also noted that a second DVD is being created on the War of 1812 in Defiance County.

April

April 21, 2011 - Board Meeting Highlights

Julie Miller, Cecelia Brown and Jim Rebar have been working on the web site, migrating more and more material from our old site onto the new.

The Turnbull Wagon 1904 catalogue reprint is finished and will sell for $20. The board discussed how to get the word out to those who might be interested in it. Dianne Kline will contact Farmland News and will take photos for possible fliers to be sent out.

April 25, 2011 - Chapter Meeting Highlights

Twenty-two members and guests met at St. John UCC at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, April 25, 2011. President Brown called the meeting to order. During the meeting, a motion was made by Bob Bowers to purchase the necessary tables and chairs (two tables and six chairs) to furnish the chapter’s room at the Defiance Development and Visitors' Building. Rich Rosevink seconded the motion which carried. It was also decide to create a wish list for items for the room which is to be available after May 31.

For the program, Gladys Donson provided instructional information and interesting anecdotes which explained how early settlers came to Defiance County. She cautioned that researchers must imagine themselves back in the times of their ancestors-- becoming aware of travel conditions and the changing land boundaries. She noted that many of earliest settlers to Defiance County in the 1820s came from Ross County in southern Ohio. Those who arrived in the 1830s came from the eastern Ohio Counties of Crawford, Wayne, and Richland. Gladys also highlighted the overland, water and rail lines providing transportation to Defiance County.

May

May 19, 2011 - Board Meeting Highlights

A thank-you was read from the Defiance Public Library System thanking board members for meeting with them with concerns for the chapter's past and future donations of genealogical materials to the library. Cecelia shared with the board a letter from Ray Keck concerning an index he has prepared entitled “Auglaize Pioneers.” It is a name index of early settlers from 1820-1840 living in what is now Paulding County but which at that time was Williams County. Treasurer Boesling noted that she has filed the e-card in lieu of an IRS Form 990 verifying that DCGS is still active. She also received the receipt stating that the chapter may continue to operate as a charitable non-profit organization.

Dianne Kline moved that the board accept the chapter's Civil War Service Certificate application as presented by Mary Williams. Lavina Boesling seconded the motion which passed. Cecelia will create the certificate and the application will appear in the summer newsletter as well as on the web site.

May 23, 2011 - Chapter Meeting Highlights

Eighteen members and guests attended the May 23 DCGS meeting. For the program, Carol Montrose, author and publisher of numerous genealogical resources offered many tips and suggestions as how to make one’s genealogical research more successful. During the business meeting the proposed changes to the Policy and Procedure Manual of chapter were approved by the membership.

Winchester’s Camp No. 2

Richard Rosevink of the DCGS Veterans Historical Committee has announced that the dedication of Winchester’s Camp No. 2 will be 2:00 P.M. Saturday, September 10. The marker will be placed on East River Drive (CR 424 East) on the north side of the Maumee River in the small Defiance City roadside park shown above.
The Turnbull Wagon Company

by Dianne Kline

Warm Spring days have arrived and we see large tractors and farm wagons in the fields and on our local roadways. At the beginning of the 20th century in Defiance and surrounding areas, you would see many of the Turnbull Wagons carrying families and products to and from the market in town. These wagons have a rich local history.

Prior to locating in Defiance, Turnbull had made a fortune in carriage making in New Orleans but all was lost because of the Civil War. He then established wood working and wagon making businesses in South Bend, Goshen, Laporte (Indiana), and Napoleon (Ohio). In 1876 David B. Turnbull, founder, selected twelve acres in Defiance, on the right bank of the Maumee River, just below the confluence of the Maumee with the Auglaize River. Turnbull utilized both rivers for a market in which to buy logs rafted down to his location and remaining in the water until sawn. An outstanding wagon timber source was important for this wagon manufacturer. By 1880 Turnbull was producing an average of about twenty wagons and one thousand agricultural wheels per day. Turnbull was the largest employer in Defiance and had annual sales of $500,000. The 1890 Defiance County history described the Turnbull Wagon Company as the “most extensive manufacturing interest in Defiance.”

The Turnbull Wagon Company of Defiance, Ohio, was also strategically located near railroads and rivers (Maumee and Auglaize). Turnbull trumpeted its own claim of BEST ON EARTH WAGONS in advertising and catalogues, and Turnbull placed a great deal of pride in their vehicles. Turnbull advertised in Chautauqua’s printed programs. [Defiance Public Library file on Chautauqua] The large Turnbull factory complex was situated across the river from the Chautauqua grounds. Turnbull promoted itself through newspapers:

“When you load up a wagon you want to know that it will hold it. The Turnbull is made only of the best materials and will stand a great overload. Every piece is guaranteed and should any defect appear, will be cheerfully and quickly replaced. When you buy a Turnbull you buy service—long uninterrupted satisfactory service.” [The Bryan Times, April 26, 1912]

The March 1913 great flood in Defiance inundated the 24 factory buildings and nearly wiped out the manufacturing business; the Turnbull operation apparently had no flood insurance and suffered a severe financial setback. By 1919 wagon production had ceased in Defiance.

1904 Turnbull Catalog Reproduction

The Defiance County Chapter of the Ohio Genealogical Society has recently released a new publication, a reprint of the 1904 Turnbull Wagon Pocket Catalog used by the salesmen for this wagon company that was located in Defiance. The forty page catalog lists all the sizes of wagons offered for sale, along with several full color prints of their wagons. This booklet would be of great interest to the Turnbull Wagon collectors, restorers, and any local history buffs. To order the reprint, contact our chapter at Defiance Co. Chapter OGS; P.O. Box 7006, Defiance, OH 43512 or use the chapter’s email address--defiancegenealogy2002@yahoo.com.

He participated in a number of battles of the Civil War and was seriously wounded at the Battle of Shiloh. For years Dr. Kinmont served on the pension board.

Defiance Democrat - January 18, 1862

Defiance, O. January 15 - Died on Wednesday last, January 15th, after a short illness, Pierce EVANS, in the 69th year of his age. Judge Evans was born in Bourbon county, Kentucky, August 28th, 1793. He settled on the Maumee in 1822, and since 1825 has resided on the farm, near Defiance, which he entered and improved. He was a thrifty, upright and respected citizen.
Dave Bennett is one of our DCGS chapter’s trustees. At meetings he often relates some of the fascinating research he has come upon. So it was suggested by one of the board members that he share some of these articles with other chapter members through Yesteryears’ Trails. This is Dave’s inaugural column.

“Sketch of an Early Settler of the Maumee Valley”

Transcription of David W. Bennett’s notes:

DELAWARE TOWNSHIP
BY U. G. FIGLEY
MARCH 15, 1917 – THE DEFIANCE DEMOCRAT

Delaware Township was organized in 1824, and was named after the Indians. I cannot say who was the first settler. Suffice it to say, I have in a separate article written of Montgomery Evans moving in 1823 from a blockhouse in old Fort Winchester at Defiance to a point on the Maumee River in Delaware Township, somewhere about what is Mulligan’s Bluff named from Benj Mulligan, a pioneer who lived there and anyone who has seen it knows how steep and high and picturesque it is.

I know of a man who, being unfamiliar with the turn of the road at that place, one dark night, drove over the bluff with his horse and top buggy, and slithered and shot down the incline into the river, miraculously without any serious mishap and drove across the river into the field on the other side somehow, howled and whooped till a farmer went out with a lantern and took him in for the night.

I have said the Thomas Warren, a brother-in-law of Montgomery Evans him from Defiance and after his own second marriage in 1827, located on a farm near Evan’s where there was a big orchard, thanks to the indefatigable Johnny Appleseed leaving there in the late 30s to locate in Defiance. Here I might note a real true blue snake story I have heard from different quarters, and which I have not doubt is true.

“Snake was Tame”

A little son of Mr. Evans, was Ben, aged about four, who several times a day demanded a bowl of milk sometime with mush in it as he wanted to feed his “naky” and went out in the “bush” as it was called. He was followed one day by his mother and another lady, who saw him sit down on a log and tap on his bowl with the spoon. They were horrified to behold an enormous blacksnake come from somewhere and greedily lap the milk from the spoon. If the snake appeared too greedy and offered to dip its tongue into the bowl, little Ben would rap it on the head with the spoon, and it would cower and shrink back like a whipped pup. When the bowl was empty, he turned it over, got up and started to the house, the snake crawling away. The woman thought of interfering, but as the snake seemed harmless they kept quiet.

“River Was Thoroughfare”

William Snook and family moved from Warren County, Ohio in 1824 to where the B&O afterward was made to cross the Maumee River buying land on both sides of the river. Montgomery Evans was his nearest neighbor, about a mile and a half above and on the other side of the river. Uncle Sammy Hughes lived about three miles away.

There were no mills or roads at that time-- the river was the only thoroughfare except for Anthony Wayne Trail, a sort of road along the south of the river from Defiance to Fort Wayne which was impassible.
except during the winter when it was frozen up. Three persons, using a team, had to carry axes to cut away any fallen timber which the wind had blown across the trail.

During the year, except winter, the river was traversed by the pirogue. A pirogue was a canoe made from a hollowed out log or a slap together propelled by poles by means of pushing rafts of various sizes.

This land entered by Mr. Snook may be owned as of now by the Messrs. Luce and Jacob. A son of William Snook, John A. Snook, was a captain in the 14th regiment OVI in the Civil War then finally became Lieutenant Colonel of the 68th regiment and was killed at Champion Hill, Mississippi in General Grant’s Vicksburg campaign in 1864. The ex-judge Wilson H. Snook is another son, our congressman, I think he is not of this line, but of a brother, William N. Snook of Antwerp, Ohio.

MARCH 15, 1917 – THE DEFIANCE DEMOCRAT

George, John and Peter Snook, three of the sons from fourteen to eighteen years old in 1828 went out on a winter coon hunt and endeavoring to get a supposed coon out of a tree they had cut down, George, with a dog, ran into the top, were sailed into by a big black bear which crawled out of the supposed coon hole. George was considerably bitten and clawed by the bear while the other boys were whacking away at it with their axes as well as they could. George ran his fist down the bear’s throat and choked him as best he could go with the help of his brothers he got away and was taken home. The next day, an Indian came along and found the bear so badly used up that he easily brained it with his faithful tomahawk.

Later Developments - U. S. 24 and Now County Road 424

U.S. Route 24 is one of the original United States highways proposed in 1926. The road originally ran from Pontiac, Michigan to Kansas City, Missouri. The 43-mile portion of the Maumee River following old U. S. 24 which extends between the Indiana/Ohio state line to the Ohio Route 24 bridge near Defiance has been designated as a State Scenic River. Harley Davidson, Inc., named the portion of County Road 424 between Defiance and Napoleon as one of the ten best touring roads in the U. S. This 18 mile stretch through Independence Dam State Park follows the Maumee River and uses the old tow path of the Miami-Erie and Wabash Canal Systems for its road bed.

In 2005 movement was made to establish a four-lane “Fort to Port” freeway from Fort Wayne to Toledo. Currently the portion between Napoleon and Antwerp is now completed with the entire project slated to be done in 2012. The new U. S. 24 deviates from the original Defiance, New Rochester, Antwerp in Defiance and Paulding Counties as it no longer follows the Maumee River. The older portions which follow the river are now designated County Road 424 in Defiance and Paulding Counties.

Historical Significance of Maumee River near Defiance

While the new U. S. 24 will expeditiously bypass towns and cities along the Maumee River, hopefully the significance of what happened along the original byway will not be lost. For those who grew up in the area and heard the stories, we nostalgically recall many of the events and people who made history vivid for us – the settling of the Black Swamp, the orchards of John Chapman “Johnny Appleseed.” The area is also rich in native American history and lore. We recall of the Indian villages – Delaware Town and Blue Jacket’s Town, the great Indian councils and Indian leaders (Blue Jacket, Tecumseh, Pontiac, Black Snake), the natives’ battles against encroaching settlers during the 1790s (Fort Defiance) and the War of 1812 (Fort Winchester). We also remember other significant historical figures – Anthony Wayne, Oliver Spenser, Frances Slocum and Brackel, whites who were captured and lived with the Indians, the Girty brothers. There are still remnants of the Miami-Erie and the Wabash Canals reminding us of that rather brief, but colorful era.

An excellent resource revealing the Defiance area history is Louis Simonis’ Maumee River 1835 (A History of Pioneers, Indians and Land Speculators.) Simonis’ book provides a good look at the Maumee River area. While the focus is the year 1835 and the William C. Holgate journal written during that year, the book also relates many other significant events which create a fabulous history of the Maumee River in the Defiance County area. Two other books provide a glimpse into the history of the Maumee River – The Confluence by Randall L. Buchmann and History of the Maumee River Basin by Charles E. Slocum.

21st Ohio Volunteer Infantry

The 21st Ohio Regiment was organized at Camp Taylor near Cleveland on April 27, 1861 with Jesse S. Norton, Captain; James M. Neibling, Lieutenant Colonel; and A. J. Taylor, Major. The recruits came from the counties of Hancock, Defiance, Wood, Ottawa, Sandusky and Putnam. Many were farmers. Some of the battles the 21st participated in are the following:

Nashville
Murfreesboro, Tennessee
Huntsville, Alabama
Battle of Stones River
Lookout Mountain
Battle of Chickamauga
Battle of Chatoanooga
Atlanta

Nine men of the 21st O.V.I. volunteered to participate in a secret mission known as Andrews' Raid. The men, along with two civilians and thirteen soldiers from two other Ohio regiments, dressed in civilian clothes and slipped behind enemy lines. They hijacked the Confederate locomotive The General. The mission was a failure, and all of the raiders were captured. Eight men, including Private John M. Scott of Co. F, 21st O. V. I., were hanged. Another eight, including 21st O.V.I. privates Wilson W. Brown, William J. Knight, John R. Porter, Mark Wood, and John A. Wilson, escaped from captivity. The remaining raiders, among them Private William Bensinger, Private Robert Buffum, and Sergeant Elihu H. Mason of the 21st O.V.I., were released in a prisoner exchange the next year. In recognition of their actions, Congress awarded most of the raiders, including all nine from the 21st O.V.I., the newly created Medal of Honor. Bensinger, Buffum, and Mason were three of the first six men ever to receive the medal.

In six hours of fighting in the Battle of Chattanooga, the 21st Ohio, numbering about 540 men, lost 265 killed, wounded or captured. Forty-six men would eventually be sent to Andersonville Prison. Only ten of the prisoners would survive...
The regiment marched through Georgia to Savannah, Georgia, arriving on the coast at the end of the year. In early 1865, the 21st participated in the Carolinas Campaign, including the Battle of Bentonville. Following the surrender of the opposing Confederate army at Bennett Place in April, the 21st marched to Washington, D.C. and participated in the Grand Review. The soldiers were discharged from the army and paid on July 28, 1865, when the regiment mustered out in Louisville, Kentucky.

Two Companies were made up of men from the Defiance area--Company E and Company K.

Company E - 21st OVI

Cheney, Second Lieutenant; Osgood Crazy, First Sergeant; John Berry, Second Sergeant; Finlay Britton, Third Sergeant; John Mercer, Fourth Sergeant; George T. “The Dennison Guards (Capt. Strong) left Defiance for Camp Taylor, Cleveland, May 13, 1862. On Sunday evening preceding, a farewell meeting was held at the Methodist Church when appropriate addresses were made and a beautiful flag made and presented by the ladies of Defiance, and acknowledged by Capt. Strong in a few well-chosen remarks. Hundreds of relatives and friends accompanied the company to the depot indicating kindly feelings toward its members as well as a hearty sympathy for their successes. Hearty cheers sped them on their way.”

“William Bishop was wounded and remained at Gallipolis for awhile, not being able to come at the time. Barton Smith died from wounds and G. W. Blue was killed at the battle of Scary on the Kanawha. With these exceptions, the company returned entire.”

Future Issues To Have More Unit Rosters

In succeeding issues of Yesteryears’ Trails will be rosters and brief unit histories of the 38th OVI (Companies D, E, and G), the 48th OVI (Company F), the 68th OVI (Company B), the 100th OVI (Company D), 107th OVI (Company K), the 11th OVI (Companies E and F) and an additional list of Defiance soldiers taken from The History of Defiance County 1883.

Hayes Center to Display Baird Artifacts

Darius Baird was truly heroic, picking up the flag and leading the 38th Ohio into the face of the enemy at Jonesboro. The Rutherford Hayes Center at Fostoria, Ohio, will have a special display “Civil War: Battle- field & Homefront.” Part of the exhibit is a wonderful display of original artifacts of the Baird brothers that Darius brought home when he was mustered out a few days after Darius was killed. Excerpts from the Defiance Democrat 1872

Defiance Democrat – April 6, 1872
Population of Defiance. The voting force [of Defiance] is about 600, which on a ration of one to seven, would indicate a population of 4,200. This is undoubtedly too high. A large number of unmarried men are employed in this vicinity, and therefore the ration of seven is too high. One to six is nearer correct which would give 3,600 which is about our actual population at present.

Defiance Democrat – May 4, 1872
Col. Thomas HUNT, the father of Gen. John E. HUNT of Toledo, commanded at Fort Defiance for about eighteen months, after the erection of the Fort. He served under Gen. WAYNE in the Revolution and came west with him for the campaign of 1794. He subsequently commanded at Fort Wayne, Indiana, to which place he removed his family and there Gen. John E. Hunt was born in 1798. His regiment was afterwards ordered to a military station in Missouri, where he died in 1807.

Defiance Democrat – June 8, 1872
Peter KETTENRING is erecting this summer a large, brick dwelling house, with all the modern improvements, on the northwest corner of Perry and Third streets.

Defiance Democrat – June 15, 1872
DrainTiles. The early settlers in these valleys were supplied with crockery from the SPEAKER pottery at Brunensburg. Forty years ago, the produce of that Pottery was peddled, by canoes and pirogues, along all these streams. An old resident was speaking to us the other day of the excellence of this ware, mentioning that he had in use crocks of that make, for more than thirty years and that they were likely to last many years yet. The clay used by the Speakers was “mined out” of the bluff bank opposite Brunensburg. Pits were also worked on the Speaker farm south of the village. We are told that not only there, but at other points in this vicinity, there is abundant of potter’s clay.

The demand for tile for agricultural and building purposes is largely on the increase and would even now justify the starting of a factory for the manufacture of the various sizes used…

Defiance Democrat – January 6, 1872
Dr. L. G. THACKER, who went west for his health, but now called home by sickness in his family, informs us that he has located in Hiawatha, Kansas, about forty miles west from St. Joseph. He represents that region as highly prosperous and himself as much pleased with the place.

Defiance Democrat – February 10, 1872
The new Lutheran church was dedicated on Sunday last. The services were highly interesting and full houses were in attendance. It is estimated that 700 persons were present at the forenoon services. The house is finished and furnished in good taste, and is highly creditable to the congregation. The pastor, Rev. John DEINDORFER, was assisted by Rev. M. REINMUND of Tiffting, Rev. Mr. BODE of Toledo, Rev. Mr. PERROSIT of Archbold and Rev. Mr. LUTZ of Bryan.

Defiance Democrat – April 31, 1872

Defiance Democrat – November 2, 1872
The remains of a Mastodon were discovered last week in Washington Township, Henry County, by persons who were digging a ditch in some low marshy ground.

Defiance Democrat – November 23, 1872
Boy Lost. The friends of Jacob M. SHELLENBERGER are desirous of knowing his whereabouts. He has been gone from his home in Delaware Township for nearly a month, and nothing since has been heard of him. He is about 14 years of age, short and heavy built, and is known by the name of “Will.” Address his father Matthias Shellenberger,
Defiance post office.

Defiance Democrat – December 21, 1872

In digging a well last week on the farm of J. E. WELLMAN, in Highland township, after boring over 100 feet, a very strong vein was struck, sending up to within ten feet of the top an abundant supply of the best of water. What is remarkable is that fish, similar to those found in Bryan wells, came to the surface – sightless, yet active and from four to six inches in length, bright, shining little fellows.

Civil War Draft Notifications

(as listed in the Defiance Democrat Oct. 11, 1862)

“The Draft took place here on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. We hear no complaints of unfairness in the proceedings. The enlistments were all duly credited. The selection made is remarkable, as being mainly of those who ought to be at home – men of large families and of no great capacity for getting along in the world. Of the 179, perhaps not 18 are able to hire substitutes. It must fall with great severity upon many families. The drafted men are ordered to Defiance on Monday next, to be immediately forwarded to Camp at Cleveland.

“Governor TOD has exempted from the operation of the draft all State and County officers, all Ministers of the Gospel having charge of congregations, and fixed $200 as the rate at which non-combatants, Quakers and others may be released, which sum is to be spent by the State in hiring substitutes. Drafted men, or their substitutes, have the privilege, before being mustered in, to enlist in any of the Volunteer Regiments and have the benefit of all bounties.”

Defiance County Sends 300 Volunteers
(from the Defiance Democrat - August 30, 1862)

“Defiance County sent out 300 volunteers within the past ten days – over two companies for the 111th and 70 for the German Regiment, officers as follows: John E. HILL, Captain; Solomon CALLENDER, 1st Lieutenant; Hiram MEEKS, 2nd Lieutenant. B. F. SOUTHWORTH, Captain; William C. TRAVIS, 1st Lieutenant; Elijah KARNES, 2nd Lieutenant. Martin VIEBACH, Captain; William MARTIN, 1st Lieutenant; ____ 2nd.”

Song of Company D - 111th OVI
(from the Defiance Democrat September 13, 1862)

“Captain HILL of Company D
Will lead us on to victory….
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.
Company D will never run,
But fight the rebels two to one…
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.

We’ll teach the rebels in due time
That Jeff’s rebellion’s quite sublime…
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.
CALLENDER, MEEK, both go to fight,
Believing God protects the right….
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.

Our Orderly Sergeant, Ez. CRARY,
Always does it up in a hurry…
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.
Our other Sergeants we’ll review,
Oscar WORKS and Harry SWEET, too…
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.

And BOWKER, too, you know him well,
He’ll be a dead or living tell…
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.
He can teach young ideas how to shoot,
And fight his country’s foes to boot…
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.

And WELDON to the contest goes,
And leaves his friends to fight his foes….
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.
Our Corporals, they are prompt and willing,
FURLOW, BEBEE, FARNSWORTH and CLELAND…
Away, away, away in Dixie Land.

Excerpts Pertaining to the Civil War - 1862
(from the Defiance Democrat - 1862)

February 1, 1862 – Lieutenant Alphonzo T. BRAUCHER, Second Lieut. In the Defiance Company in the 38th Regiment, and son of Isaac Braucher of this vicinity, died suddenly on Wednesday morning last in Kentucky. His friends received a dispatch on Wednesday morning that he was very sick, and at noon another that he was dead. He was about 30 years of age, of robust health, and of exemplary habits and it could only be extreme hardships that could so soon have worn him down.

John WEIPPERT, Capt. Irving’s Company, 38th Regiment, well known in the vicinity of Defiance, died April 12th at the Nashville Hospital.

May 10, 1862 – Capt. John P. ARRANTS, of Company E, 21st Regiment, died at Brunersburg, this county, on Monday last. Since the campaign in the fall, through Eastern Kentucky, he has not been with his regiment, his health failing gradually until brought home to die. He was 2d Lieut., during the three months service, and acquitted himself so satisfactory, that on the reorganization of the Regiment, the Captaincy of the Defiance Company was conceded to him by unanimous consent. He was a young man of excellent character, fair talents, and universally respected. He leaves a young widow, daughter of the late William D. HAYMAKER, to whom he was married but a few days before his regiment left for Kentucky, in September last.
