What’s Been Happening at DCGS?

June
On June 18 members of the DCGS chapter met at the Recorder’s Office in the courthouse annex. After a brief explanation of the records held there—land deeds and early veterans’ discharge records, members were given time to do individual research.

August
At the August chapter board meeting, a history of the Lyla Dove family was presented to the board. After the genealogy is bound, it will be placed in the Defiance Public library for research purposes.

Richard Rosevink of the Veterans Historical Committee announced that his committee is working on recognition of Camp Trimble of the Civil War era. A marker noting its importance will be placed near the current Sheriff’s office. A ceremony will be held there at the end of September or beginning of October.

On September 22 from 2:00-4:00 at the Evansport United Methodist Church, records of the church, the Tiffin Township Schools, and the village of Evansport will be on display.

On August 26 chapter members were given a tour of the Andrew Tuttle Memorial Museum located in the heart of Defiance at the corner of Third and Clinton Streets. Andrew Tuttle was a former Defiance resident.

and world traveler who amassed many valuable collector’s items as he traveled the world. His collection was willed to the city of Defiance if they would create a city museum for his artifacts. A former bank building replete with its safe was found to house the collections. The most priceless part of his collection are the coins, part of which will go on display for the first time in November. On display at that time will be coins of the colonial and revolutionary eras through the Civil War in America. Another fascinating collection is the Indian artifacts which both he and his family members collected from this area. A third important collection are stamps of all nations.

The goal of the museum is to create a variety of displays which will revolve about every 3-6 months. In November a series of open houses will be held, and after that the museum will be open Thursdays from 10-5 and one Saturday a month from 1-5. With a month’s notice, tours can be scheduled for small groups at other times.

The Wall of Conflict delineates the various conflicts which took place in the Defiance area up to the founding of the city of Defiance in 1823 and/or the creation of Defiance County in 1845. The upper balcony (which is not handicap accessible at this time) is yet to be developed but in the future may be used for a classroom or research or for a special display gallery.

The museum also currently houses plaques honoring those residents who have been chosen for the Defiance City Hall of Fame. (More photos on page 40.)

Of Community Interest in 1887

When chapter member Connie Duerk spent a few hours at the library looking for the death notice of John Mueller, the old canal boat captain who was the great grandfather of her husband Junior, she ran across two interesting tidbits she wanted to share from The Democrat Newspaper, Defiance, Ohio February 24, 1887

Money Discovered in Copper Kettle - “After a laborer fell a large tree in Crane Township, Paulding County, one day last week, he discovered that the stump was hollow. While gazing into the cavity he noticed a peculiar looking copper kettle which he immediately hauled out, and on opening it, he found it contained nearly three thousand dollars in silver species of foreign mint. How long the treasure had lain in the stump will probably never be known. The coins all dated back more than a century.”

Connie noted that it made her wonder what happened to the kettle with all the money? What was it actually worth, and what was the foreign country that minted the silver coins??? Forever a mystery!

Gusher Struck in Bryan - “Bryan has struck a gusher with a capacity of about 125 barrels a day, and a gas well that roars loud enough to keep the people living in that neighborhood awake all night. Bryan does not seem to be very anxious about the new railroad since she struck the other bonanza, and would, we are told, rather expend the monies raised for the road in offering factories inducements to locate in Bryan.

Again, Connie queried: I wonder if they chose the right bonanza? They do have several factories in Bryan, so I guess they chose the right idea to getting more factories in Bryan.

Early School Days in Defiance
by Mrs. S. L. Carey - January 1893

The first year after we came west, I did not attend school but learned my lessons regularly at home and recited to my sister. Sometimes, when Mr. Arrowsmith was at home, I would recite to him. I liked that for he used to praise me for memorizing so well. I did not get much praise at home, for our folks thought praise was not good for children. I know now that I did not merit the praise he bestowed, for it was the easiest thing in the world for me to memorize. What some others had to study hard to learn, I would commit in a very short time and would look with feelings of contempt on those who tried so hard to get their lessons and deserved credit much more than I did. I wonder now why my teacher did not try to take some of the conceit out of me.

In the winter of 1838-1839, I attended school in Defiance, taught by William A. Brown in the old courthouse. One room was large enough to hold all the scholars who attended. Miss Harriet Stowe, the Presbyterian minister’s daughter was the assistant teacher. She heard the little ones read their abc’s and the young ones reading and spelling classes. Among the young men or bigger boys who attended I remember Rheese Wells, Andrew Kniss, William Landgdon, John Shirley, Frank Southworth, Jacob and Abraham Hudson, Orville Greer, and a number of others whose name I have forgotten. Some of the older girls and young ladies were Mary Hall, Nancy Marcelllus, Mary Woodward, Ann Caroline, Louisa Dagget, Lourella Allen, Ester and Mary Southworth.

We read in the “English Reader” in the first class of which I was a member although I was but ten years old. But I had read in that same reader in New York State and could read those incomprehensible prose pieces as well as any of them. We had to observe the “rules” in reading to mind the pauses, to let the voice fall at a period and to raise it at the interrogative point, no matter what the length.

The boys and girls had intermissions separately, the girls first, the boys after. Once when few of us had gone to get a drink of water, we were late getting back. The boys were just coming out when some of the rude ones began to tease us and would not let us in. When we cried, they laughed at us. Just then Frank Southworth came out and seized some of those boys and gave them a good shaking and made them let us in. Always after that, Frank was my ideal of a gentleman, and if any boys had ever assailed me, I should not have hesitated to call on him for protection.

As we lived on the opposite side of the Maumee, we had to cross by ferry. I had nearly half a mile to walk before crossing, but there was a family living near us, and I used to go with their children, for I was afraid to go alone.

One morning I was late, and they had already gone, but I was told if I ran, I would be sure to overtake them. And I did run, every step, and reached the ferry landing just as they landed on the opposite bank. I was about to turn and go back home, for I was terribly afraid of Jimmy Baker, the ferryman. Mr. Dagger lived across the road which ran near the bank and his daughter Ann just then came out to get a pail of water. She stopped and watched old Jimmy as he came back scolding and swearing at me for being so late and keeping him from breakfast. Ann told me if he did not set me over to come with her to the house and wait till he came back. When the boat touched the bank, I made no motion toward going in when he called out, “Come along, you little rat you; I’ve a good notion to tip you out in the middle of the river to pay you for keeping me away from my breakfast.”

Ann told me not to be afraid, that he would not hurt me, and I stepped in with fear and trembling. But as she stood there on the bank watching, I felt safer, and when I landed, she waved her hand and picked up her pail and went into the house. I felt that I owed my life to her. I fully believed that old Jimmy would have drowned me if she had not stood guard.

Mr. Brown taught the school three successive winters and gave great satisfaction. When we had a different teacher afterward, the scholars used to say, “Brown let us do so and so,” or “Brown did not do so and so.” Brown was quoted for many ye.

Xavery Miller, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Xavery Miller, was born in Alsace, France, February 10, 1840. He came with his parents to America in 1849, locating in Williams County, Ohio, near Mina: died at the old farm, September 30, 1914, aged 74 years, 7 months, and 20 days.

He was united in marriage with Victoria Troffer, January 6, 1867. To this union were born seven children, (William died in infancy, aged nine months, being the fifth child), of whom six survive, namely, George H., of Montpelier, Frank J. of Milford, Anna of Hamilton, Indiana, Flora of Edgerton, Lena of Williamston, Michigan and Clyde of David City, Nebraska.

Deceased enlisted in Co. A 38th O.V.I. August 26, 1861, for three years or to the close of the war; was discharged September 13, 1864 at New Altonia, Georgia.

After marriage he located on a farm east of Edgerton for a few years, moving from there to Milford township in 1870. His chosen occupation was that of farmer. Being a pioneer he contributed his share towards the development of our county. His was a busy life and it can be truthfully said that whatever he did was well done. By hard work and strict economy he accumulated considerable property and in his later days he had the satisfaction of knowing that all of his children were independent and above want.

His last years were of the severest trial. About twelve years ago he built a modern house in Edgerton and with his wife and two younger daughters, Lena and Clyde, moved off of the home farm to town. After a few years his wife died and he was afflicted with gangrene and suffered the lose of one of his limbs below the knee. It soon spread to the other foot. Realizing his inability to effect a cure, he patiently awaited the end, expressing his willingness to die. His attachment for the members of the 38th O.V.I. remained with him to the end. Those of his company who acted as pall bearers were Hon. Walt Tomlinson, Calvin Rodgers, Abe Mavis, and Joe Leek of Farmer Township; Jacob Saul, Bryan; John Stevens, Silas Irish, Leonard Slater of Edgerton. Funeral services were held at the Catholic Church, Edgerton, Saturday at 10 o’clock.

PVT. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN DIFFENBAUGH
145TH PA. VOLUNTEER INFANTRY REGIMENT CO. C

Article submitted by chapter member Rita Addison

Benjamin Franklin Diffenbaugh was born February 15, 1797 in Lancaster Co., PA. The names of his parents have not yet been determined. Benjamin is listed in the year 1821 in Lampeter Twp. as a Blacksmith. He married his first wife, Elizabeth Weidel, between 1815 and 1820. They had four sons and one daughter.

By 1830 the family had relocated to Erie, PA., and Benjamin operated one of the first Blacksmith shops in Erie. In January 1844 Elizabeth died, and six months later, on July 31, 1844, Benjamin married Lavina Thursten Pickett, daughter of Rev. Daniel Pickett and Anna Corbin Pickett. Six months after his second marriage, on December 18, 1844, Benjamin enlisted for 3 years Naval Service, assigned to the USS Michigan. He was rated as a Coal Heaver. The Michigan operated on the Great Lakes out of Erie, PA. throughout his enlistment. Upon his release from Naval Service, Benjamin resumed his Blacksmith profession in Erie. He and Lavina became the parents of Benjamin Pickett Diffenbaugh, Anna Diffenbaugh, Hiram Israel Diffenbaugh, and John Collen Diffenbaugh.

Benjamin enlisted as a Private in the newly formed 145th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry Regiment, Co. C on August 14, 1862 in Erie. Benjamin was over the age of 65 at the time of his enlistment.

The 145th was ordered to the front without arms and with very little knowledge of military duty. The Regiment left Erie on the 11th of September under the command of Colo-
After participating in the Battle of Antietam, toward the close of October the regiment moved with the army down the Loudon Valley to Warrenton where it made a brief halt and then proceeded towards Falmouth. Burnside being in command and making every preparation to meet the enemy at Fredericksburg. On the afternoon of the 12th of December the 145th Regiment crossed a pontoon bridge into Fredericksburg. About noon on the 13th the 145th moved forward towards the fatal stone wall at the foot of Marye's Heights. Pvt. Benjamin Diffenbaugh stood in the 2nd four from right of the Company, and while in the act of climbing over a board fence, was injured from an explosion and concussion of a shell which exploded within about three feet of him, one piece striking him on the outer side of the left limb about midway between the left knee and hip joint, and another piece on the left side of his head and left ear. The blood was spitting from his nose, ears, and mouth and he lay in an unconscious state from the time he was hurt until late in the afternoon.

Benjamin was treated in camp for his wounds, and on December 25th he was transferred to Campbell Hospital in Washington D.C. Just a week after his transfer to hospital Benjamin received a Surgeon's Certificate of Disability, and was honorably discharged on January 5, 1863. The medical inspector noted on his certificate, "Old age, he ought not to have been enlisted". Benjamin was never to fully recover from his war injuries; he sustained total deafness in his left ear, his left leg was weak and lame and caused him a great deal of pain. It was difficult for him to walk or stand for any length of time. As the years went on he had more and more difficulty doing his work and supporting his family. For the remainder of his life his afflictions plagued him, and his financial state was ever grim.

In August 1879 Benjamin applied for a pension and was placed on the invalid pension roll of the United States, and was granted the amount of $8.00 a month. Benjamin and Lavina's oldest son, Benjamin, and his family were living in Seneca Co., OH., and their youngest son, John, and their daughter, Anna, wife of Lorenzo Putnam, relocated to Hicksville in Defiance Co., OH. in early 1880. In late 1881, due to his infirmities and advancing age, Benjamin and Lavina relocated to Hicksville to live with Anna and her family.

Benjamin Franklin Diffenbaugh passed away in Hicksville on December 10, 1882. Shortly thereafter, Lavina returned to Erie Co., PA., where she lived the remainder of her life with her oldest son, Benjamin, who had also returned to Erie. Lavina passed away on April 4, 1888 at the age of 68. They both rest at Forest Home Cemetery in Hicksville. A Civil War Flag holder adjacent to the monument contains the flag for which he fought.

Benjamin Franklin Diffenbaugh lived in Hicksville for the remainder of his life with his wife Lavina. During his life, he served in the Civil War as a member of the 145th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He was injured during the Battle of Fredericksburg and was honorably discharged in January 1863. After the war, he worked in Seneca County, Ohio, and later moved to Hicksville. Benjamin was a veteran of the Civil War and is buried at Forest Home Cemetery in Hicksville, Ohio.
William Donley was born to John and Elizabeth McKee Donley on December 11, 1833, in Athens County, OH. The family came to Washington Twp., Defiance (Williams) County, OH, in the spring of 1836. In 1862 William married Permelia Cummins, born 1842, and died 1875. They had two living children: Lillian (Lillie) C. Donley (McFeters) born 1865, died 1908, and John A., born 1867, died 1936.

In 1876 William married a second time to Lucy A. McFeters born 1858, and died 1910, and they had four living children: Charles, born 1877, died 1900; Arie, born 1879, died 1942; Lottie born 1880, died 1946; and Peter, born 1882, died 1958.

The Donley family lived in Ney, Ohio where “Bill” was a blacksmith and a civic leader. Williams Donley served as a private in Co. F, 48th OVI during the Civil War. He was an ardent Republican, member of the GAR and Knights of Pythias and was town marshal of Ney at the time of his death in 1901.

Lucy was an active member of the M. E. Church, W.C.T.U., W. R. C., and the Pythian Sisters.

Obituary for George Ginther
Defiance Democrat - March 16, 1912

George GIN THER was born in Wittenberg, Germany, Feb. 10, 1830, and departed this life at his home in Washington township, March 6, 1912, aged 82 years and 26 days, from the effects of a stroke of paralysis received two days before.

At the age of fourteen he was confirmed in the Evangelical Lutheran church. After he grew to manhood, he had a great desire to come to America, but his parents did not approve for he was the youngest of the family, and they thought he would be their help in their declining years, but they did not wish to stand in the way of his wishes and provided him with the means for his journey. On Feb. 25, 1848, he took passage on a sail vessel, reading America in 74 days. He came to Liverpool, Medina County, Ohio and worked on a farm seven years for a Mr. WARNER.

George married Miss Elizabeth LEINSEDER, Sept. 7, 1855, and they at once came to Washington Township, setting upon the farm on which he died. He was one of the organizers of the German Lutheran church near his home, and was ever a faithful member. The only remaining member who organized the church left is Jacob GOLLER. He leaves his companion, two sons and three daughters in Washington Township, two daughters in Putnam Co., and one at Bryan, besides grandchildren and great-grandchildren. A sturdy pioneer, a good citizen, a faithful husband and a loving father has been called home.

Snyder Reunion - August 1911

Defiance Democrat – August 23, 1911

The sixth annual SNYDER reunion was held Thursday in the beautiful grove of Joseph LAVERGNE, consisting of five acres, which is located on the Mud Creek road in section two, Delaware township. Those present, who numbered about a hundred, were the descendants of Samuel and Lydia S. SNYDER, who settled in Delaware township in 1846, coming from Pennsylvania. Mr. Snyder passed away about thirty-five years ago, but his better half, who was generally known as Grandma Snyder, survived until July 10th of the present year, passing away to that better land at the ripe old age of 94 years, 10 months and 2 days.

The dinner was served in the LaVergne grove on a single long table constructed especially for the occasion. And such a dinner it was. It was one of those kind which only country women know how to prepare, and consisted of ordinary amateurs and professionals who had made records on the turn in days gone by.

- Fat Women’s Race – Emma SNYDER, 1st; Mrs. Emma SPROW, 2nd. Distance 200 feet; time, 5 minutes.

Henry Crowl served under Anthony Wayne

Lydia A. SNYDER, who was the oldest member of the family up to the time of her death which occurred recently, was a real daughter of the Revolution, her father having enlisted under the banner of Mad Anthony WAYNE and served with him during the entire Revolutionary War. Lydia’s father was Henry CROWL, her mother, Anna DAVIS.

The desperate fight which Wayne and his detachment of 15,000 men had at Paoli made a deep impression both on the leader and his followers. Mrs. Snyder’s father, Mr. Crowl, often told of how Mad Anthony would spur his men on to desperate deeds of warfare by waving his sword above his head and shouting, “Remember Paoli.”

Mr. Crowl was present at the capture of Stony... active service, but was never wounded, although he had one narrow escape from capture. He rode out from camp one day to do a little spying on his own account. He had got almost within the British lines when he was seen. A squad of cavalry started in pursuit of him, and he turned and made a run for the American lines. Bullets whizzed all about him, but he escaped being hit. His horse was a fleet animal much more so than those of the pursuers, and so finally succeeded (to get) behind the lines in safety. Mr. Crowl died October 30, 1834, aged 77 years. Anna Davis Crowl died in 186_, aged 87 years.

Pioneer of Delaware Township

Mrs. Lydia A. Snyder was born in York, PA., September 8, 181_. In 1834, she was married to Manuel Snyder. She was a pioneer of Delaware Township, having come to Mud Creek in 1848 with her husband and two small children when the country was a wilderness. There were but two families living along the creek in that vicinity at the time, and they were always glad to visit each other and be neighborly. The first few years in the township, their living consisted of “Johnny Cakes” and venison, with other game meat thrown in for variety. Her husband once shot a deer in the dooryard, pointing the gun through the cracks in the cabin.

Mrs. Snyder saw the country transformed from a forest into its present progressive state. Saw the first chopping of the giant trees and helped burn the log heaps and get the land read to raise a little produce. Watched the first efforts to raise the first crops and in those early days, the harvesting was done by the rude tools of the past, and saw the clearings widen out, the roads built, school houses, churches and towns erected.

Family History Month at the Allen County Public Library: October 2012—It’s Closer than You Think

(From the ACPL Genealogy Gems - August 31, 2012)

Family History Month—2012 is guaranteed to have something for just about every genealogical interest, something every day to expand your genealogical knowledge. The month will highlight cemetery research and tombstone symbolism, state and regional research, census records, assistance with your brick walls, and technology use for genealogical research. This year, our traditional Midnight Madness returns on Friday, October 26, offering the opportunity to do family history research until midnight that night. For detailed class descriptions, more information, and to register for individual sessions, see the brochure at http://www.genealogycenter.org/Libraries/2012_Brochures/FHM.sflb.ashx.

Defiance Democrat – Excerpts from 1868

January 4, 1868

The new Dam across the Tiffin River, recently constructed by Brice HILTON, at Brunersburg, went out on Saturday last. The river being very low and hence to support from back water, the weight of the water above forced an opening in the centre, swinging the halves around against the bank like a double gate. The timber may be saved, but Mr. Hilton’s loss is over $1000 besides eight or ten months use of his grist and saw mills, as no work towards repairing the Dam can be done until next summer. Besides being a loss to the proprietor, it will result in considerable inconvenience to the people of a large scope of the county.

The Saloon of the town is that of E. REYFF, under PREISENDORFER’s Shoe Store. The hall is twice as large as any other in Defiance, arranged for comfort and convenience and tastefully furnished. The best of ale and beer on draught, and oysters and delicacies served up at all hours.

The EGLER Brothers are about erecting a Steam Sawmill in Richland township, on the farm of S. ROHN, about a mile below Independence Lock. They expect to have the mill running early in the Spring; in the meantime, their yard is ready for logs, for winter delivery.

January 25, 1868

Dr. COLBY lost a valuable horse while driving on the Canal below Independence Lock, on Tuesday last. The ice breaking let the horse in’o the mud, and the effort was so great and the time so long to get him out, that he died shortly after. Died – On Thursday eve last, at the residence of her son, Wm. C. HOLGATE, Mrs. BOSTWICK, aged 75 years.

He lingered in a semi-unconscious state until Friday of last week, when death ended his suffering. He leaves a widow and three children.

Died – On Tuesday morning last, of Dropsy, after a lingering illness, Mrs. Maria, wife of Isaac CORWIN, aged 43 years and 14 days.

An Untimely Death – A man named Burkhart GENTNER, keeping a grocery on Clinton street, came to a very sudden death on Friday afternoon last. It appears he entered a grocery for the purpose of drinking, and while there took several drinks, more than his already used-up constitution would bear, which rendered him completely senseless, in which state he breathed his last in less than ten minutes after. He was a fireman, and his comrades followed his body to the grave. His funeral sermon was preached in the Catholic church, when Father O’KEEFE took occasion to deliver a doctrinal sermon.

At a special meeting of Fire Company, Liberty No. 1, of Defiance, held March 17th, the following preamble and resolution were adopted by unanimous signing of the company:

“Whereas, Burkhart GENTER, deceased, was formerly a member of this company and, as expressed by resolution, passed at a former meeting of this company, “a diligent, faithful and energetic fireman” and “one always at post on occasions of fire, and prompt in his attendance at all meetings of the company,” and... “Whereas, said publicity casts upon the name of the deceased, and upon his innocent and unoffending children, infamy and shame, as well as reflecting upon the honor and reputation of the company, and “Whereas, our friend can no longer defend himself, his lips being closed in death; therefore:

RESOLVED, that we consider it our duty to defend the memory of the deceased, his children and our company, from the improper, uncalled for, and slanderous insinuations appearing in said public, and do declare the statements contained in said article attending the death of our deceased comrade, false in every particular and as to the cause of his decease, we offer to the public, the following certificate:

“Defiance, O, March 14, 1868 – I hereby certify that I have been the physician of Capt. Burkhart GENTER for the last thirteen years, that I attended upon him in his last sickness, and that the deceased died of apoplexy, caused by a disease of the heart, with which he has been afflicted ever since his return from the army. J. RUHL, M.D.”

RESOLVED: that copies of the foregoing be presented to the Defiance papers for publication.

J. F. DEATRICK, Foreman

One of the displays in the Andrew Tuttle Museum highlights the importance that the B&O Railway played in the development of Defiance. The safe, a relic of the former Building Savings and Loan, will be used to both display and protect the vast and costly diplay of Tuttle’s coin collection.

This desk owned and used for many years by William C. Holgate was most recently housed in the Defiance Public Library. Holgate is the namesake of the village of Holgate, Holgate Avenue, and William C. Holgate is considered one of the founding fathers of the city and of the county.

Infirmary Farm – The Committee of Defiance County have been in session the greater part of the last two weeks, discussing the Poor House question and visiting the farms offered for sale. They visited quite a number and finally fixed upon that at present owned by Chas. KROTS (the Reuben BROWN farm) on Tiffin River and in Tiffin township – five miles north of Defiance on the Evansport road. .. Mr. KROTS remains on the farm... Complete possession to be taken in the fall, when the Infirmary, it is proposed, shall be put into operation. The Commissioners propose no building improvements at present except an addition to the dwelling. This farm is in a quiet neighborhood of thrifty farmers, centrally located, and must be generally regarded as a judicious selection. A neat and commodious M.E. chapel was built.
on the northeast corner of this tract, some six years ago. The price to be paid is $8000 in payments run-township was destroyed by fire, Friday morning of last week. Three sons of Mr. CONKLE had been running the mill until a late hour, when they retired to sleep in a small room in one corner of the building, and about two o’clock were aroused by the smoke and flame of the burning mill. Two of the sons jumped from the back window and escaped without injury, the other, in attempting to get out by a lower gangway, got fastened by the foot in such a manner that he could not be liberated, until he was badly burned. He died from the injuries during the forenoon. He was a most exemplary young man, and had been but recently married to a daughter of John
